ILTA Wants to Know What You Think

Many of you won't read past the first sentence, so fill out this short survey and the five additional short surveys that follow in the coming weeks, and we might give you $100. More below...

Although you may not be aware of it, your Board of Directors, Committee Chairs and committee members spend a good amount of time asking each other how the association can best provide value to members. We are always attempting to deliver more of what you want and less of what you don't, while striving to imagine new services that, like 2 a.m. Taco Bell home delivery, you've always wanted, but didn't know it. It's hard work, and frankly, we're not always great at it. For example, in our last brainstorming session, we kicked around the idea of training tropical birds to talk about the value of owner's policies and releasing them into realtors' offices. It got a lot of traction and was going to be implemented at scale until a few people in our test office got Lyme disease from a particularly aggressive macaw.

If you don't think that's a wise use of association time and resources, I would respectfully beg you to spend 5 minutes completing each of these surveys. Each survey will inform ILTA's leadership on how best to serve you and will help us direct resources to the initiatives and projects that are most important to members. It won't take a lot of time, and it will be enormously valuable to the association.

There will be a total of six short surveys, including this one. For each survey you complete, you will receive one entry into a drawing to win a $100 gift card. Keep your eyes open for the incoming surveys, and we would be grateful if you complete them. Click here for the first survey.

Why I Love ILTA Conventions

Convention, for me, is such a wonderful way to network with my peers and make connections that extend beyond the industry boundaries. It is the one time of year we can get together, forget our individual agencies and the fact that we are competitors, and just be industry professionals who enjoy and appreciate each other's company, knowledge, and friendship. Having a network you can consult with and count on is invaluable, and convention is a terrific opportunity to build it. – Brandi Halcomb, Stewart Title Guaranty Company
